ROSARIO TOAST.

President Roca's toast at the Rosario banquet, to 'Peace and good Government,' has been interpreted by his political opponents as a premeditated insult; which is much to be regretted, as it is improbable that the President ever intended that a few hurried after-dinner remarks should receive any such construction.

Although political banquets form now-a-days a no insignificant element in Argentine political life, it is very remarkable how few of the speeches survive the dinner. No man was more banqueted in his first year of office than Governor Rocha. In his administrative trips through the camp, banquet so followed banquet that we all arrived at the conviction that to govern the province well requires more stomach than head; yet in the countless speeches and toasts delivered at those festive boards, not one was ever singled out for special press criticism, or branded as a political insult to predecessors in office or political parties in their decline.

We all sigh for 'Peace and good Government,' therefore the sentiment expressed by the President's toast was shared by us all, and worthy of an enlightened ruler and a patriotic Chief Magistrate; and, possibly, those great political organs which have taken such exception to some of the President's words might have allowed the merit of the sentiment to have outweighed the acerbity of his remarks. We entirely disagree with our colleague the Nacion when it says that political dinner speeches in England are free from all such remarks as those made by President Roca. On the contrary, Mr. Gladstone's speeches, in his memorable Midlothian campaign, were infinitely harder on Lord Beaconsfield and his party than President Roca, in his celebrated Rosario toast, was on the Mitristas or Sarmientistas. Doubtless, it would be better, if on such occasions as the Rosario banquet, our public men were as reserved as in the Government House, but "in vino veritas," and there are few of us who, when we get on our legs, with friend around and flowing bumper in hand, well know what to say and where to stop.

In the good old days of this country when we toasted friends in "matè amargo," no chance expressions ever fell from our public men that would give room for such bitter criticisms as in the Nacion, and it is reasonable to suppose that had our Rosario friends held true to the native beverage, there would have been fewer toasts and less speechifying. But every progress in the land is mellowed with a glass of champagne, and it is to be deplored that even in our wine, politics lie at the bottom of the cup.

After a three months run through the Northern provinces, inspecting railways, telegraphs, public works of every description, possibly sleeping half the time on a 'recado,' the President arrives at Rosario on his way down to Buenos Aires. No man ever better deserved a hearty welcome back, and the people of Rosario, who are about the most go-ahead in this country, gave him a dinner and drank health and long life to him around their festive board. President Roca in replying had the admirable tact to propose a toast worthy of Gladstone—"Peace and good Government"—and if inadvertently he spoke rather severely of the men and the times gone before him, we must blame history more than the man.

If, as we are told, for 14 years we have had no free elections, at least we can chronicle in the long interim over a dozen unsuccessful revolutions.

If, as they say, Governor begets Governor, and President begets President, at least let us all remember that it was the old Tribuna, with Hector Varela at its back, and Colonel Mansilla with an organ of his own, that saved the country from Mitre begetting Elizalde, who, when he upset Oroño in Santa Fé, was surer of his election than Juarez Celman is to-day.

The subject calls up a retrospect too gloomy for any banquet table. The turn affairs took, if ruinous to some political parties, has at least been identified with a greater National development than any of General Roca's predecessors ever witnessed, ever anticipated, or ever dreamt of; and had General Roca, instead of drinking to peace and good Government, toasted revolution and anarchy, with the memory of the men of the past, he could not have incurred greater criticism than in quaffing his goblet to new men and new times.

LONDON AND RIVER PLATE BANK, LIMITED.

The Annual Report of this flourishing institution which we give at foot, is another evidence of the country's prosperity. The figures in the balance sheet which we published in our last, show the wondrous growth of this Bank, which is only about 20 years old. Little did its founders, when they first started the concern in a back parlor in Calle Florida, suppose that in so short a time and with so slender a capital as £600,000, the Bank's discounts and assets would reach the splendid figure of £4,730,785 sterling. Their deposits in account current etc. reach to over five times the paid up capital and the reserve fund, spite of very bad years, crisis etc., amounts up to close on ¾ of the bank capital.

In complimenting the Directors and shareholders on this brilliant bank picture, we must not overlook the great ability and marked success of the Chief Manager, Mr John Todd, who, notwithstanding the very responsible and difficult post which he fills, is a great favourite and universally esteemed.

We believe at no previous period [illegible] res of this Bank as high [illegible] market as at present, [illegible] r cent premium; and if [illegible] Discount Bank continue in the [illegible] hands as at present, we may [illegible] the shares reaching 100 premium before many years are about.

The reserve fund of the Bank has now reached £185,000, which is its highest figure since the Bank was founded. There can be no healthier sign than the quiet and steady growth of the reserve fund, and although, for nearly all the banks in this market, last year proved disastrous, this prosperous bank has not only paid a handsome dividend to its shareholders but also added a very respectable sum to its reserve. Next year, under the same prudent and able management, we expect to see the reserve fund marked at £200,000, which will be one third of the whole Bank capital.

The London and River Plate Bank, like unto the Buenos Aires Great Southern Railway, has done much for Argentine credit in the London market. We doubt if even in the English colonies British capitalists have been more successful than the investors in these two great companies, which by good and economic management have proved a credit to our nationality in this distant country.

Report to the Shareholders at the Twentieth Annual General Meeting, to be held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street, London, on Tuesday, the 19th Dec. 1882.

The Directors have pleasure in placing before the Proprietors their Twentieth Annual Report, which will be found to show the customary elements of strength.

Low rates of Interest have prevailed in the River Plate throughout the past year, tending to reduce the margin of profit on all Banking operations.

After making ample provision for bad and doubtful debts, and adding to the Reserve Fund the sum of £10,000, thus raising it to £185,000, the Directors are enabled to declare a Dividend of 4 per cent, and a Bonus of 2 per cent for the half-year ended 30th September, 1882, being with the Interim Dividend paid in June, a distribution of 10 per cent for the year.

A balance of £5,609 6s. 6d. will be carried forward to the Profit and Loss Account for the current year.

The Directors who retire by rotation on this occasion are Messrs David Howden, Thomas S. Richardson, and George Wilkinson Drabble, who being eligible, offer themselves for re-election.

Dividend Warrants, free of Income Tax, will be issued, payable on the 2nd December, 1882.

NEWS FROM THE FAR SOUTH.

Whilst the flow of European emigrants to Santa Fe and Entre Rios is a continued stream, and the railways and steamers are taxed to their utmost to convey all the people, scarcely an immigrant finds his way to the far South where the soil is equally fertile, the climate more temperate, and the natural attractions certainly far greater. Around the Guardia of Pringles, on the Rio Negro, there is not a single chacra, although two hundred agricultural families might be most comfortably settled; and the town of Viedma, which is exactly opposite the town of Patagones, and with splendid municipal lands on the Rio Negro, is brought to a stand still, for the want of new lands and new settlers. The schooner Monte Leon, belonging to Messrs Thomas & Theobald, arrived at Patagones on Dec. 27th, and there was joy in Viedma when the news spread that she had brought down 35 Basques for that town. Since the memorable days of Aguirre and Murga no such event had occurred down there, and the history of their arrival may serve as a lesson to the Chief of the Immigration Department, to show what can be done in his line when people go the right way to work. Last year, a well to-do Basque resident of Viedma made a trip to Europe after a very lengthened residence in South America; he visited his country and his friends, with money in both pockets, and now on his return to Viedma 35 of his friends in Europe have come out to try their fortune on the Rio Negro, and follow in the footsteps of their pioneer fellow countryman.

We doubt not that Col. Winter, the Governor of Viedma, will take good care to see that these new arrivals are well and comfortably settled. Viedma is as yet but a very small place, but Dr Humble, the excellent English physician of the place, says, that there is not a house to be had in the town, and the bricks cannot be made fast enough to meet the demand; all the land about Viedma is most fertile, and in the hands of industrious peasants might be made to yield much. The 'ejido' of the town has been just surveyed, and it is to be supposed that free municipal farms will be given to all the newly arrived immigrants. If the Government adopt this course, then in a very few years Viedma will be ahead of Patagones, but at present, although Patagones is built on a sandy, sterile mountain, it has more trade, population and stir than Viedma. There is a fine quinta at Viedma, beautifully planted with poplars and fruit trees, belonging to a Welshman named Solomon, who has an estancia on the Rio Negro above Mr Kincaid, where Solomon now resides; his quinta is for sale, and the price asked for it is 25.000 m/c, which is not to say dear; yet such is the utter absence of capital down there, it can't be sold, no one able to work such a quinta having so much money. We saw some very good wheat fields about Viedma in our travels, but as a rule there is a very small crop this season, whilst at Chubut the Welshmen are having a splendid crop, nothing to equal it since the colony was started, and the two threshing machines which the Monte Leon has taken down to the colony will arrive betimes. We hear that on board the same vessel there was also machinery for a flour mill: Some 30 to 40 Welsh emigrants were on board the Monte Leon, and in visiting them on board we met a Welsh woman who had been for many years with her husband in Chubut, made enough of money to pay for a trip home to Caernarvon, and now was on her way back to Chubut to begin again. The fortunes of Chubut never looked brighter than at present, but it is much to be regretted that with so many thousands of immigrants as are now arriving each month, some few families cannot be sent down to the Rio Negro, where the finest wheat and maize in the world can be grown, if the Government people made but a slight effort in the right direction. The Rio Negro zone is so immense that when General Villegas returns from his expedition, and Mr. James Kincaid comes out from Glasgow with his new steamer, we hope to see thousands of emigrants forwarded by the Government to these fertile but neglected lands.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A CALM.

Nov. 23, 1882.

Neither in the world financial, social, or political, is there any subject to which I can draw special attention by this mail. The Government proceeds rapidly with its rules of procedure, in which few outside the House of Commons take any real interest, or at least not until the question of "grand committees" comes on next week. The Conservatives were triumphant in the Salisbury election, and they have a fair chance of winning at Preston, Wigan, Cambridge and at Liverpool, where there is a seat vacant by the death of Lord Harrowby and the consequent removal of Lord Sandon to the Upper House. London, in the meanwhile, occupies itself with its own gossip, which at present is uninteresting to us who are here, and must be doubly so to those abroad, who have their own scandals, races, regattas, golf clubs, Christmas parties and military reviews. Of all that is passing, there is only one matter of general interest, and it is in too crude a state to be handled, except en passant—I allude to the probable collapse of the electricity mania, in so far as regards the several companies which, within the last few months, have been got up to work this or that system of public lighting by electricity. That so many different patents, closely resembling one another, and all liable to be extinguished by some new comer, could not possibly co-exist, was long since foreseen; but it is only now that we hear openly of shareholders in certain of these companies banding together to demand a liquidation and return of their money, or to remove their names from the companies' registers. The different municipalities who had also committed themselves to schemes of electric lighting, are waking up to the danger of incurring large responsibilities that may be rendered useless by subsequent inventions. This, you understand, is not a question of the ultimate triumph of electricity over old methods of lighting by gas. There is no doubt about that. The question is simply the very old one of silly folks parting with their money when under the spell of advertisements and all the diabolical machinations of stockbrokers, directors, committees and fomenters of public companies. There was a time when the pilgrim, weary of the battle of life, and unsuited by habit and incumbrances to the quiet of the monastic cloister, could turn to Science, whose ever bright and serene atmosphere seemed the only foretaste left to us of a spiritual existence in the future. Lord bless you! what they call Science now-a-days is in the thick of it. "Square the electricians" is in page 1 of the Public Companies' Cathecism.

The excessive calm and State reticence now prevailing in Europe is not altogether of good augury. Stormy petrels, like M. de Giers and M. Ignatieff, have been flitting from court to court, but, so far without attracting much notice. Bnt it is quite certain that the amazement of Europe at the prompt success of the British in Egypt is wearing off, and every month's delay in the settlement of affairs in that country adds to England's difficulties. Lord Dufferin has been some time at Cairo, and to the outer world his presence is not yet made palpable. The English Government has wasted precious time on the Arabi question. The Times' correspondent in Egypt seems convinced of the absolute if not legal guilt of Arabi in regard to his implication in the massacre at Alexandria and in the burning of that city. If such is the case, Mr. Gladstone's Government may not only be able to justify their own agents, and some of their own acts, but they may strengthen themselves provisionally by a closer alliance with the financial party, and by promoting Lord Northbrooke and making Mr. Goschen Chancellor of the Exchequer, modify their programme in Egypt. The modification would make the question for the present more a financial than a political one, and would apparently give England a common interest with the other Powers, should they demand a Conference. It is a rumour to-day that Italy has already taken the initiative in arranging a Conference.

The financial position of France seems likely to occupy her attention to the exclusion of European politics, but, in the meantime, she soothes her vanity by picking a quarrel with China and with Madagascar, and by petty annexations on the Congo in Africa, recently explored by M. de Brazza, and on the Red Sea, where M. Soleille, has obtained the cession of the Bay of Tejura from the Sultan of Lacita.

The local event of the week is, of course, the confessions of guilt and conviction of all the culprits engaged in the Maamtrasna massacre in Ireland. The horrors of the crime are almost unexampled in civilized countries. Without motive, political or agrarian, and with barely the excuse of a Corsican feud a mountain-side cabin is surrounded and its inmates, man, woman and child, murdered, apparently out of sheer savagery, or at most to destroy evidence of other crimes.

THE LONDON ALHAMBRA BURNED DOWN.

On Thursday morning, a few minutes after one o'clock, a fire broke out in the Alhambra Theatre, London, which resulted in the total destruction of that popular place of public amusement. The fire, it would seem, was first discovered by a detective, named Bowden, belonging to the C Division, as he was coming off duty, and returning to the police section-house in Leicester-square, where he resided. The detective, on nearing the theatre, perceived a volume of smoke issuing from three of the windows in the second row, and at once raised an alarm. After some difficulty he succeeded in arousing the resident fireman stationed in the theatre, in accordance with a regulation universally observed in buildings of that description, and was admitted to the interior. At this juncture they were joined by one of the officials attached to the Alhambra, who had come up, and together they proceeded to examine the rooms. They soon ascertained that the fire had originated in the dress circle of the theatre, for on reaching this portion of the structure they beheld a dense volume of smoke, interspersed with flame, rolling upwards. While Bowden and his companion took steps to secure the books, the fireman proceeded to get his wife and two children out of the building, and then directed his attention to the flames, which he endeavoured to subdue by means of the private hose on the premises. All his efforts, however, proved unavailing, and indeed, so rapidly did the conflagration spread, that in an incredibly short space of time he was compelled to make his escape by literally forcing his way through the flames. In almost less time than it takes to record the fact in writing, the building was in one fierce blaze, and by the time that the first contingent of the fire brigade appeared upon the scene the doomed theatre was enwrapped in flames almost from floor to roof. This is not to be wondered at when the inflammable nature of the fittings, not to mention the drapery, is borne in mind. The alarm of fire that had been given soon roused the neighborhood, and crowds of spectators rapidly gravitated to the spot and blocked in compact masses every avenue of approach to the square in which the ill-fated theatre is situated. It was not long before a powerful body of police arrived upon the scene, and were drawn up in a strong and impenetrable cordon round the square and across the thoroughfares leading to the back of the burning theatre. Once the alarm was given, no long interval elapsed before the fire engines were on the spot. First to put in an appearance was the Chandor-street engine, quickly followed by the one from King-street and nearly twenty others. Notwithstanding the promptitude displayed on the part of the fire brigade authorities, by the time the steamers got to work the theatre was irretrievably doomed to destruction. Twenty minutes from the time of the raising of the alarm the building was one raging mass of fire. Huge volumes of smoke mingling with a majestic column of flame swept upwards from the burning pile, and cast a lurid reflection over the starry expanse above, lighting up with a ruddy glow the houses in the square and the vicinity, and showing up in strong relief, amidst a fiery background, the outlines of the theatre itself. The scene was one of terrible grandeur. The interior of the theatre presented the appearance of a furnace, glowing with the power and brilliancy almost of a mid-day sun, against which the massive masonry of the shell of the building showed up darkly and grimly. From the first it was only too evident that nothing could save the Alhambra from total and complete destruction. Even when the flaming pile was deluged with the torrents of water hurled upon it from front and rear from a score of pipes, no visible effect was for a long time produced. Still the flames belched forth, encircling with their fiery grip the fated building. Still the smoke hung overhead in one dense canopy relieved by myriads of brilliant, sparks, with which the air was thickened. The fire had probably not been raging more than half an hour when the roof fell in with a loud crash, an event which was followed by the upheaval of a gigantic column of forked flame, which seemed to pierce even the leaden mass above, and lit up the neighbourhood with startling effect. Although the roof had apparently fallen in, the two towers which flank the building north and south, continued to remain intact, and it speaks well for the strength and solidity of the masonry, when it is mentioned that they did not succumb to the flames, although burning furiously for several hours. Even when the fire had nearly burnt itself out, when Leicester-square and Soho had again lapsed into comparative darkness, the towers were still licked by circling wreaths of flame, and shone out like beacons from the smoky obscurity above. So swift was the fire in its career of destruction, so complete was the catastrophe, that time was not permitted to save anything from the theatre. The furniture and fittings, as well as the dresses, and the property of those engaged at the theatre, all shared one common fate, while it was at once evident that the theatre was doomed, and consequently the efforts of the brigade were to a great extent directed to preventing the fire spreading to the adjoining houses. At one time the flames had extended to some of the adjoining property in the rear, but in the course of an hour or so the heavy weight of the water that was constantly being poured into the burning mass told with visible effect and the fire was got under.

LATEST FROM AFRICA.

Cape Town, Cape of Good Hope, Nov. 8th, 1882.

I arrived at Port Nollett on Sept. 23rd, exactly 35 days from B. Ayres. A more miserable place I never saw. About 24 galvanised iron houses on a rise of white sand facing the sea, like Sandrige, Melbourne, from the Lagoon. It would not exist at all only for the copper mines, 100 miles inland, at O. O. Kipp, I believe one of the best paying minés in the world, and about 300 miles from Capetown. It is the Namaque Desert—not a blade of grass or a tree, hardly scrub for miles, and no people but those employed by the Company, about 200 whites and a lot of blacks, who do all the work, and work well. The place is only fit for convicts.

I came ashore with the captain in a small steamer belonging to the company, as the ship had to anchor four miles off with two other barques. People are not allowed to come ashore in boats, it is so rough. The captain went on board that night; I remained on shore. He came ashore again on Monday, and asked me to accompany him on board, as he was lonely. So I complied.

On Wednesday it got rough, and the ship broke her iron cable and had to put to sea again with the loss of 100 fathoms of cable and a one-ton anchor, so we did not get back till Sunday afternoon. I had to stop there three weeks altogether, waiting for the Namaqua steamer from Cape Town, the dirtiest little brute of a three to five miles an hour, four days to do 300 miles, and the sea like a lake, and £4 4s. to pay. So I got here on the 17th Oct.

This is a strange place, but pretty; surrounded by hills and a desert, with beautiful houses in nice avenues thickly planted with Cape oak trees.

I have been unfortunate in coming at this time, as the small-pox is raging, and I cannot get out of this. I went to port Elizabeth in the Dunkeld steamer—a fine boat—but would not be allowed to land, and had to be taken back. I then thought to get there by rail, and went to Banford West, 339 miles, but could get no farther, as they will not allow Cape Town people to go anywhere, nor take them into the boarding-houses, though they will take them into the hotels at 10s. per day, with poor keep.

Worcester is a pretty place. The only thing I see doing is ostrich keeping and vineyards, of which there are 1000 acres. No pasture at this side, no trees, unless planted: a Desert Koroo. All speak Dutch, but I did not meet one that could not speak English.

Cattle and horses are very dear, and ostriches cheap to what they were. There is a splendid bay, also docks and a dry dock and slip—all splendid. I think there might be a good trade done between here and Buenos Ayres. There is a great lot of maize coming here, also wheat, flour, mules, horses and meat. Meat is 8d. to 10d. per pound. Wine is sold here at 6d. per bottle, which was formerly 3d. Now they let the ostriches into the vineyards, also send them to Buenos Ayres, as they are cheap. "Alpargatas" would sell well here, and I suppose there are other things, such as hay, etc.

I send you papers, and if I return soon—which I intend to do—I will bring you a lot. There is no use in stopping here a prisoner, with small-pox raging and war in Natal. I intend going in a ship that trades with Rio Janeiro for coffee, and is expected every day.

There are four Irish sheepfarmers here from Buenos Ayres, that came by the Jane Harvey, going to New Zealand. They say they can do no good in Buenos Ayres. What a pity your Government don't treat people as they promise.

There has been a barque wrecked at Port Nollet last week, and another, the Nil Desperandum, put in here, as she lost three anchors and chain. She has to get new ones here before returning to Nollet. This is a horrid port—paved with anchors. Twenty vessels have lost their anchors here this year.

I saw the proprietor of the Cape Times, and he says he would be most happy to exchange papers with you.

There is no cheese made here, and very little butter.

I remain,
Yours, &c.,
Joseph Barnes.

RIOJA LETTER.

Written in Buenos Ayres,
January 5, 1883.

Dear Mr. Editor,

Noise did it. Some thirty years ago I arrived here, and since then I have seen thousands of dear friends go to their graves without being able to fulfil their compromises, because "licor" did it; but it has fallen to my lot, after all this lapse of time, to change the standard "Licor" saw into "Noise" saw.

I promised you an article or two about Rioja in general—its inhabitants, its future, its mineral wealth and so forth—but every time I sit down to make an attempt at wasting ink and paper, I am immediately driven into a vivid desire of committing suicide or some other atrocious crime (without any object whatever); for the noise of the city cars is enough to drive any sane man to within an inch of stubborn idiocy, unless he happens to be a Bolsa broker, in which case he is supposed to be accustomed to all sorts of uncouth sounds, uttered either by himself and colleagues, or the outside guttersnipes.

So I gave it up in despair, and intended to pay you a state visit, praying to be excused for not fulfilling my promise.

But it happened that whenever this polite intention was on the eve of being verified, the weather was remarkably warm, so I took a City car (they are called tramways here—Goodness alone knows why—I suppose it is on account of so many tramps about town!) belonging to Brothers Lacroze, and the unavoidable consequence was that before having been driven a couple of squares I felt myself inundated with such sweet and aromatic smells that my chief desire became to visit the other brother, who keeps a bathing establishment in Calle Piedad, in order to get my body reduced to some sort of natural human odour.

Mr. Editor, I have been proprietor of say half a dozen Lorses in various parts of the world, but it has never been my fate to possess such indecent brutes as Lacroze's crowd are. I suppose they are fed on castor oil, and they ought to wear Holman's Liver pads. Well, Sir, these are the reasons why I never wrote nor paid you a visit.

But now I am obliged to write a few lines en contestacion to a certain Mr. New Main Pipe, who in a morning paper of January 2nd answers my remarks about "Pipe Water," giving me the title of Professor "Somebody." Good old man! If he had styled me Professor Nobody I wouldn't have taken the trouble to answer at all.

Well, Mr. New Main Pipe, listen:

I am not a C.E. nor am I a chemist in the true sense of the word, though having been a "Photo" for many years, I know a few items about this useful science, but I am sure neither you nor anybody else will deny the following facts:—

1. If you keep a leaden pipe perfectly filled with water, it will not corrode in, call it, 500,000 years; at least, not inside.

2. If you leave it dry, it is sure to fall to pieces in less than ten years.

3. Query: Is lead poison?

4. Do you know the different effects of "hydrogen" and "oxygen" on no matter what metal?

Yours faithfully,
G. H. Alfeld,
National Professor of the Rioja College.

P.S.—Whenever my time allows it, I'll take the liberty to pen a few remarks about the utter uselessness of tramway horns and bells, telling your readers a story of a little waif, about seven years old, who had to have her right arm amputated on account of two "belled" horses and a "horned" driver running over it. I was living in Calle Santa Fe then, in Guerrero's house, and Friend Covernton, now established in Chivilcoy, did the cutting. She is a buxom girl of 15 now, but with only one arm; and I am almost sure she agrees with me about the absurd and useless nuisance of the deafening noise that makes dear, dirty Buenos Ayres a perfect Pandemonium.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The Royal Mail Steamer Avon will sail on Monday next. Our Packet Edition will appear on Sunday.

Those who want to buy good horseflesh should not miss the sale of Mr. Anderson's superb stud to-day by Baltar and Quesada. Never before has such a choice lot of superb animals been offered to the public.

The thermom. surpassed all its previous efforts, yesterday and reminded us of National Bank Shares in the beginning of last year. At 8 a.m., 91 Fahrt. was the figure; at 10 a.m., 98½; at noon 103, and at 2 p.m., the flags on the sunny side of the street were so hot that a "bife" could have been cooked on them, and people with thin-soled boots hopped gingerly along, like hens on a hot griddle. Never was such heat known in the Plate before. The news from the camp is very bad—everything crisped up by the blazing sun, and tremendous camp fires in several districts, especially in Nueve de Julio.

The Belgrano Baths are each day more crowded. Yesterday there was a tremendous squeeze for rooms to undress in, and 100 people were waiting at a time. Many go from town by the first train, and one of these early swimmers asks us to suggest to Mr. Shaw to put on a 'Bathing Express' from town at 6, to return about half-past 7, as the present arrangements do not allow city men to get back before nine o'clock.

Havas's double-edged despatch about the Prime Minister of England being "seriously ill, yet no uneasiness felt about him" should be corrected by the Agency at once, and the British residents here informed of the truth. If the "grand old man" is seriously ill, there will be more than uneasiness all over the British Empire and in every court in Europe. Let us hope that the Premier's illness is merely a winter cold.

Another awful kerosene accident is reported from Patagones, where Mr Bartorelli's cook, while lighting a fire, poured some kerosene on it: The can exploded; the cook rushed out on fire from head to foot, threw himself on the ground, and was buried next day, in spite of all the water, earth etc, the neighbours threw on him to put out the flames. This is another awful warning to those who use kerosene to light fires. The only safe way to do it is to moisten a rag very slightly with the liquid.

The 'cardo negro' is spreading with alarming rapidity in parts of the camp. In Magdalena the neighbours have commenced a campaign against it, and are tearing it up root and branch.

Our colleague the Diario will commence to publish on the 15th, Daudet's 'Evangeliste,' and on the 31st Zola's 'Au Bonheur des Dames.'

The concert at the Florida Gardens to-night will be a pleasant lounge in the cool of the evening. The programme is most attractive.

We are asked to make enquiries as to whether Senhor Mari Josef Fretes, engineer, is still above ground or not. The Senhor was several years in London studying his profession. In 1868 he left England for Paraguay. When there he got mixed up in a revolution, but emerged from it with a whole skin, and was last heard of seven years ago, as being in the Customs' at Asuncion. Perhaps some of our Asuncion subscribers can oblige us in this matter.

The Masquerade Balls at the Opera House will commence on Saturday.

We feel much pleasure in saluting Mr. Pilling, of Rio Cuarto, who is in town for a few days. He says the heat up there is awful, and hardly a drop of water to be had; it has not rained for three months.

The Revista de Ganaderia will be increased to the size of the Republica, and published every three days. This shows progress and public patronage. The Revista is certainly a most useful publication.

Dr. Hartwig and all the German savans sailed for Europe yesterday. There was a grand Champagne "hoch sollen Sie leben" farewell lunch at the Hotel Argentino. We were kindly invited, but make it a rule never to attempt a speech in German with the thermometer at 103, in the shade. The savans are so charmed with this country that they intend to ask their friends at home to lend them money to buy estancias on the Rio Nego. We wish the illustrious party a safe and pleasant voyage to Vaterland.

Entertainment at Colonia.—We are informed that our English and American friends in Colonia are to give an amateur theatrical performance on next Saturday evening, at the Barraca of Sr. Irigaray. The programe is made up of selections from the English and Spanish drama, and consists of the farce of "Obliging a Friend," J. B. Morton's "Whitebait at Greenwich," and the comedy, in Spanish, entitled, "Como el pez en el agua." As the entertainment is in well-known hands, there is no doubt of a pleasant reunion and enjoyable acting. We understand a steamer will leave here for Colonia on Saturday afternoon, to return on Sunday morning, which will give our citizens an opportunity to attend.

The High Life bathers in Montevideo were caught in the water at Pocitos the other day by a sudden squall of wind, rain and hail, and it was as good as a play, or far better, to see them skedaddling for shore. Some of the ladies were so terrified that they drove home in their bathing costume, and many lords of creation bolted up town in "traje problematico," with their clothes in their hands.

A young lady's dress took fire in a Flores tram car yesterday morning, owing to a half-extinguished cigar having been thrown under the seat. Dr. Blanco burned his hands severely in putting out the fire. The lady showed most admirable coolness, and was not injured in the least. Sooner or later public opinion will speak loud enough to force Tramway Directors to abolish smoking in the cars, be they open or closed. It is not allowed in Europe; and the "cultura," of which Porteños are so fond of bragging, should demand its total suppression here also.

The following bathing news from Rio may interest our readers at Pocitos:—

"The polite authorities of this city have recently had another acute attack of modesty. They have prohibited the use of the ordinary bathing dress worn by men, and prescribe the use of a blouse or tunic. Swimmers will appreciate the change. It will be remembered that it is only about two years ago when bathers used only the ordinary short hose, and dressed on the beach. The prohibition of this garment on the praias was perfectly proper. The present step, however, is not so well taken. No one will see just why the present dress is objectionable—unless, perhaps, it be some shopkeeper who may have the other suit to sell. This is probably the secret of the change, as it is hardly possible that a chief of police who will permit the indecencies found everywhere in the public streets would be greatly shocked by the ordinary dress of a bather.

"There's no place like home," repeated Mr Henpeck, looking at a motto; and he heartily added—'I'm glad there isn't.'

A Paris letter gives the following:—"The Duc d'Aumale has commenced his series of shooting parties at his splendid estate at Chantilly; they are said to have a political significance. That does not change the sport, however. The Duke has a staff of six men, solely in charge of the pheasants, of which 4.600 are bred annually and in their early youth 1,000 eggs per day, to say nothing of chopped meat are required for their six meals. A few years ago the Prince of Wales was among the invited; an awkward sportsman wounded a beater. The Prince hearing the yells went to the man and said—'My friend, I am a doctor, drink this and then keep that,' so saying he gave the wounded a pull from his flask of brandy and a 100 franc bank note. Since, the beaters deplore the absence of 'the English doctor."

The announcement by the Paris Figaro of the marriage of Maestro Boito to Madlle Borghi-Mamo is denied by the "happy man" himself, who wrote to the paper in question to say that he would far sooner it had announced his death, as it would have saved him the unbearable avalanche of congratulatory letters which he received.

Many people already bemoan the abolition of the Parque station and say that the next move must be passenger trains to the Central station, by the Recoleta branch. They are about right. The Once station is too far from the centre of town for a railway terminus.

Misprints will present themselves in other columns besides those of the newspaper. The author of a temperance novel who wrote 'Drunkenness is folly,' was horrified to read "Drunkenness is jolly."

"What your daughter wants," said a candid music teacher to an ignorant millionaire, "is capacity." "Is that so?" was the reply. "Well then I'll order one right off, no matter what it costs!"

NO "INGLES" NEED APPLY.

Buenos Aires.
Jany. 6th.

To the Editor of the Standard.

Dear Sir,

You very justly complain that neither the wealthy Irish estancieros nor the English commercial body of Buenos Aires have a single representative on the Provincial Bank Board of Directors. You are in error, however, when you throw the blame on Governor Rocha. At the request of a certain Senator the names of two Irishmen were placed on the list of Directors by the Governor and sent to the Senate for confirmation. That august body, for reasons (?) best known to itself, refused to sanction the nominations! And yet the names sent in are second to none in the market, a fact which causes the decision of the Senate to be received with regret and surprise by

Yours,
H.

RECADOISM.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 9th.

Dear Standard,

I take the liberty of sending you these few lines to give you my opinion upon the article lately published in your valuable paper about 'Recadoism.'

In the first place I must inform you that I do not agree with you, concerning the useful—nay valuable article so much used by the gauchos and campmen in general—the recado.

Without the 'recado,' the campman necessarily requires a substitute to perform his 'cinch' work. For how is it possible that the cow for to-morrow's dinner can be killed without the 'laso,' and how is the 'laso' to be attached to the horse without the aid of the 'recado?' A saddle in this case would be of no use whatever.

What man is capable of breaking in the untamed horse without a saddle? The 'gaucho's only way of sticking on to a horse that 'corcovears' is to press his knees firmly against the coiled-up 'laso' under his 'cojinillo.'

The 'gaucho' spends a great deal of his time out in the open camp, (for instance when he takes a troop of cattle in to the Corrales,) and how absurd it would be of him to carry a 'catre,' sheets, etc., 'en anca.'

Another reason for my argument in favour of 'recados' is that once accustomed to it, the 'recado' is far more comfortable than the saddle.

You say that the 'gaucho' is up so early on account of his hard couch—and in this I agree with you—for I thinkif the gaucho undressed himself and went to bed decently (that is to say, if he had a blanket and sheets, etc over him instead of a 'cojinillo') he would not be in such a hurry to get up early.

In fine, I strongly oppose your idea, viz, that the 'recado' is an obstruction to civilization!

Hoping, dear Standard, that you are of my way of thinking (by my strong arguments.)

SNOBBERY "IN EXCELCIS."

A stable of brown stone and marble, costly woods and plate glass! Such as this might surely have been the housing of the famed Bucephalus himself. But it is only the stable of Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt! The stalls in this latest development of American millionaire-ish folly are of polished wood, trimmed with black walnut.

In the harness-room the trappings are enclosed in plate-glass cases, and even the stable buckets are adorned with the big brass monogram of this "Paladin of Finance." The coach-house—walls, floor and ceiling alike—is in polished woods of various sorts, and upon one of the walls hangs a large mirror, which reflects the line of carriages ranged opposite. When the horses return from their work of fast trotting or carriage-dragging they walk along a broad strip of carpet—just as Royal personages do in Europe. Really all this is too delightful.

We have had eccentric people in this country, but, happily for us (Land says) we have never yet had a Vanderbilt. The stable bucket, with the raised brass monogram, has surely never been beaten in this or any other age.

Ayer's Hair Vigour

(A DESIDERATUM)

For restoring the Natural Vitality and Colour of the Hair.

Prepared according to scientific and physiological bases with the object of bettering the condition of the hair, it stimulates the enfeebled glands of the scalp into healthy action, arrests the falling of the hair and promotes its luxuriant growth; rendering it soft, youthful and glossy.

This excellent preparation, the best and without doubt the only one as a remedial agent for the many defects and diseases to which the hair is subject, calls for and merits the most serious attention of all those who have had the misfortune to lose partially this most beautiful and natural ornament. AYER'S HAIR VIGOUR employed intelligently has obtained really surprising results. Faded or grey hair it restores to its original colour; and lost hair is often, but not always, reproduced.

It has always PREVENTED FALLING of the hair; whilst as a dressing ladies say it is the most agreeable as it is the most beneficent. Containing neither dye nor oil, it does not soil the finest cambric.

Cedulas A	100¾
Cedulas E	84¾
National Bank Shares	108½

The share market opened weak this morning, in spite of the slight spurt noticed in last night's speculation, when prices advanced to 109¾ for the end of the month. Holders sold more freely to-day and brought on the weakness in the market. All the favorable news current about the Bank, the successful subscription of the shares and the great anticipations of the Franken arranged were powerless to stem the bearish current of the market. Rates for cash fell 1½, for the end of the month 1½, and for the end of February 1. Operations during official hours ruled very dull, and sales did not reach 2,000 shares. The apathy remarkable at the ring was occasioned by the great heat of the day.

Only 130 shares were sold for cash, rates opening at 110 and closing at 108½. One thousand shares were sold for the end of the month; rates opened at 110 and fell slowly to 108½, closing price. Speculation for the end of February was insignificant, only amounting to 350 shares; prices opened at 111½ and closed at 110½. Operations during official hours amounted to 1,730 shares, the bulk of same sold for the end of the month.

Much attention was paid to the news published in the Courier this morning. Our French colleague, whose opinions and assertions with reference to the Bank are important, anticipates a subscription of 100,000 shares here and abroads. The bears of the market meantime do not credit any probability of placing the shares in Europe.

About $f.180,000 of Cedulas were sold during official hours. Series A maintains its quotation at 100¾, but Series E shews a slight weakness. It is opined in the market that several holders are selling the latter Series to secure National Bank Shares. The Series is about the best investment in the market; and if the intentions of the Government are carried out, with regard to the redumption of the 8 o/o paying Cedulas, we may look forward to high quotations of Series E. In view of these circumstances there are many in the market who are purchasing the stock as a good investment, with every prospect of a heavy rise at no distant period. The market, meantime, shews a temporary weakness. Quotations for cash are at 84¾, and for the end of the month at 85½. Close on $f.100,000 were sold for the end of the month at 85½ and 85¾, closing price of the stock. Twenty thousand were sold for end of March at 85½.

Mr. Robert Methven was developed in friends to-day on his arrival from the sugary province of the Republic. He reports great prosperity up there and large arrivals of sugar machinery. The great drawback a Tucuman consists in the deficient rolling-stock of the railway; goods are often delayed two months in the station. This state of affairs might be excusable, if the general sing-up on the line were not perennial.

The Chargeurs Réunis steamer Ville de Rosario has arrived in Montevideo from Havre with 234 immigrants and 1,400 tons of cargo for this port.

The steamer Mozart has arrived from the rivers with the following cargo:—

From Rosario to Antwerp—
- 20,000 horns
- 258 bales wool
- 4 bales nutriaskins
- 1,108 dry hides
- 384 bultos minerals
- 87 bultos metalico

From San Nicolas to Antwerp—
- 325 bales wool and sheepskins
- 300 bags
- 481 hides
- 392 barrels potatoes
- 27 pipes tallow
- 12 bordalesas tallow

From San Pedro to Antwerp—
- 570 bales wool
- 155 bales sheepskins.

Telegrams from Havre announce a very dull wool market and quotations of the staple nominal. The quotation for ensemble prima is f.1.72½ per kilo.

The success of the new Bolsa subscription has been quite unexpected, and new applications for shares are being received every day. As 30 days have been allowed for the presentation of applications it is to be surmised that the subscription will be covered several times.

The exchange market rules exceedingly dull. Some small bills were passed this morning at 50d. The gold market is also at a complete stand-still and no operations reported. Discounts rule unchanged.

The sales at the ring were as follows:—

Cedulas—

For cash A 10,000 at 100¾

For cash E 29,000 at 84¾

For Jan. 31st E 25,000 at 85-½

For Feb. 28th E 95,000 at 85¾-½

For March 31st E 20,000 at 85½

Sales, 179,000

National Bank Shares—

For cash 130 at 110-109¾-108½

For Jan. 13th 200 at 109-108½

For Feb. 28th 350 at 111½-110¾-½

Sales, 1,730

Mr. J. Lanusse, Secretary of the Camara de Comercio, has published his "Tabla General en Comprobacion y Relacion de la Moneda Argentina." The work may be well recommended to every man in the market, as it is a necessary work in all operations with the Custom House and National Government. Mr Lanusse deserves the thanks of the public for the great activity and patience he has displayed in the compilation of these columns of figures.

The National Commissioner in Europe, Mr. A. Paz, has applied to the Government for the balance of the money voted for the payment of railway material. The balance in question amounts to £100,000 stg.

Another large Company to start a sugar factory is announced. Already £20,000 stg., of machinery has been ordered, and the establishment will be put up in the Province of Salto. The Saltenos are determined not to lag behind, and to follow the example of Tucuman.

The large property, corner of San Martin and Cuyo, was sold to-day for four millions currency. In connection with this sale, eight square leagues of National Lands far off Bahia Blanca were sold for $80,000 m/c., per league. There is a mortgage of $1,500,000 ⅞ on the house.

Freights rule both dull and low. Wool is being shipped slowly, but linseed has already made an appearance in the market, and shipments of the grain will soon be effected.

Despues de un suculento almuerzo campestre que ofrecen los dueños a la concurrencia procederemos a la liquidacion por separados entre los Socios Sres. Salaberry, Mandia y Errecaborde y retirarse este ultimo señor para Europa, de todas las existencias del primer establecimiento de esta magnitud en la Republica conocido por Los Remedios en el partido Lomas de Zamora, campo de los Sres Gonzalez Moreno.

No entraremos a dar un minucioso detalle de existencias por su mucha estension y solo lo haremos en globo y de la manera siguiente:

VACUNO

3000 cabezas raza Durham, desde media sangre hasta puras, todas ellas lecheras seleccionadas hijos e hijas de estas.

El establecimiento se ha esmerado siempre en obtener hacienda grande en tamaño, buen cuero y sin exageracion superiores como lecheras pues no hay ningunas vacas que de menos de doce cuartas y en su mayor parte 18 y 20 cuartas de leche.

TOROS—Raza Durham puros y mestizos de un año arriba hasta dos.

TOROS ALDERNEY—Puros y muchos lecheras selectas, servidas por animales de esta raza especial para leche.

Especial para Tamberos

Se las recomienda los tambos, compuestos de 20 hasta 50 animales cada tambo de un pelo y los hay; blancos, ovejeros, rosados, colorados negros, castaños, overos y otros pelos.

LANAR

6 a 7000 ovejas mestizas y mestizas Lincoln, carneros padres Lincoln procedentes del Establecimiento Martin Garcia, en el partido de Balcarce.

PORCINO

Cerdos de raza Normanda puros como tambien mestizados con raze Berkshire consiguiendo con esta cruza tamaño y gordura.

ENSERES

Carros y caballos de tiro, carros con su boyada correspondiente en su mayor parte colorada, lienzos de corral de 16 pies cada uno en muy buen estado, mandubay 3 postes, estaciones y otras maderas elegidas y en fin una variedad de enseres de un Establecimiento como este que seria largo detallar.

Arrendamiento del Campo

Se rematara el contrato de arrendamiento a 2100 cuadras mas o menos, bajo alambrado de primer orden, magnificas aguadas, campo flor, mosso, con eleccion al contrato original con los propietarios del campo y cuyo contrato puede inspecionarse en nuestra casa, Calle Alsina 78.

Creemos inutil hablar sobre la bondad de estos campos que no tienen rival en la Provincia y lo demuestran los arrendamientos que pagan sin en pequeñas fracciones.

Debemos llamar la atencion especial de los Sres hacendadas y criadores sobre el Stock de este Establecimiento, pues difícilmente hallaran mejor ocasion para hacerse de animales mestizos, cuya formacion ha costado tanto dinero, sacrificios y contraccion incesante a sus actuales propietarios.

La venta de las haciendas se hara en lotes al alcance de todos los capitales.

Los que se interesen en el arrendamiento del campo, pueden ocurrir a nuestra casa Alsina 78 por planos y datos.

NOTA—El remate se efectuara en el mismo establecimiento, debiendo los licitadores tomar indistintamente en el Ferro Carril del Oeste o del Sur, los trenes siguientes:

Notice to Flax Growers.

The undersigned is now prepared to supply Flax Growers with specially constructed machine, with reversible gear for making tow or scutching the fine fibre.

Their suitability for the above purposes cannot be denied and their simplicity of working is such that a youth of 12 years can manage them with perfect safety. The machine is so constructed that the breaking and scutching processes are performed at the same time, so that there are in reality two machines combined in one, doing their work simultaneously.

The machine being constructed on wheels, can be easily moved to any part of the lint field.

For cheapness the price will be so reasonable that it will come within the reach of all, and for durability and completness in doing their work none has as yet been offered with such advantages to cultivator of Flax.
